

A LINGUISTIC STYLISTIC ANALYSIS OF GBEMISOLA ADEOTI'S
*NAKED SOLES

BY

IPIGBE, ESTHER OCHUWA

ARP08/09/H/2100

A THESIS SUBMITTED TO THE DEPARTMENT OF ENGLISH IN PARTIAL FULFILMENT OF THE AWARD OF MASTER OF ART IN ENGLISH LANGUAGE OF THE OBAFEMI AWOLOWO UNIVERSITY,
ILE-IFE

2013

AUTHORISATION TO COPY

Author: IPIGBE Esther Ochuwa

Title: A Linguistic Stylistic Analysis of Gbemisola Adeoti's Naked Soles

Degree: M.A. English Language

Year: 2013

I, IPIGBE Esther hereby authorize the management of Hezekiah Oluwasanmi Library to copy my thesis in whole or part, in response to the request from individual researchers and organization for the purpose of private study or research

_____
Signature

_____
Date

CERTIFICATION

I certify that this thesis was carried out by Ipigbe Esther Ochuwa with registration number ARP/08/09/h/2100. A master student in the Department of English, Obafemi Awolowo University Ile-Ife.

---

DR. OLAOSUN I.E.

SUPERVISOR

DEPARTMENT

---

DR. I.C. ANYADIKE

HEAD OF

DEDICATION

This project is dedicated to God almighty the giver of wisdom, knowledge and understanding for guiding and protecting me throughout my Master's programme.

It is also dedicated to my beloved husband MR SAMSON AKOMIRE and my understanding mother MRS. GRACE IPIGBE for their love and also their spiritual and financial support throughout the period of this programme.

OBAFEMI AWOLOWO UNIVERSITY

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I wish to express my sincere gratitude to my beloved husband, MR SAMSON AKOMIRE, and my mother, MRS. GRACE IPIGBE, who have been encouraging, loving and supporting.

I am grateful to my supervisor, Dr. I.E. Olaosun for the part he played in the successful completion of this thesis. I thank him for his patience and the experience of thesis writing which I gained from him. I extend my greetings to all my friends. I am thankful to my sisters, Mrs. Okeowo Christiana, Monica and Veronica. And also to my brothers, Sunday, Emmanuel and John for their encouragement in time of weariness. I am grateful to my brethren, friends and colleagues: Constance, Jane, Kate, Adeleke Funmi, Mr Ojo, Atima, Mr Dada, Bisi, Agnes, Agbogun, Awolaja, Olowu, Aluko, Franklin, Yemisi and others. I am grateful to my beloved Pastor Eduhze and his wife. I thank Dr. Olateju M.A, Dr. Hunsu, Dr. Taiwo R. and Dr. Ayeomoni N. of the Department of English, Obafemi Awolowo University, Ile-Ife for their support and care. Above all, I raise my hands up in praise, worship and adoration to the Almighty God and the father of our Lord Jesus Christ whose provision, guidance, love and care made it possible for me to attain this level in my educational pursuit.

TABLE OF CONTENTS

1. CHAPTER ONE

BACKGROUND TO THE STUDY

|  |   |
|--|---|
| 1.1. Introduction                        | 1 |
| 1.2. Culture                             |   |
| 1.3. And Language                        | 3 |
| 1.4. Statement of the Research           |   |
| 1.5. Problem                             | 3 |
| 1.6. Specific Objectives of the Research |   |
| .....4                                   |   |
| 1.7. Significance of the study           | 4 |
| 1.8. Expected Contribution to Knowledge  | 5 |
| 1.9. Research Methodology                | 5 |

|  |    |
|--|----|
| 1.10. Gbemisola Adeoti's                                       |    |
| Background.....  | 5  |
| 1.8.1 His Cultural Background That Influenced His Writing..... | 9  |
| 1.11. Time of Writing.....                                     | 10 |
| 1.12. A General Synopsis of the Poems in Naked Soles.....      | 11 |
|    |    |
| 2. CHAPTER TWO  |    |
| LITERATURE REVIEW                                       |    |
| 2.0. Introduction.....   | 17 |
| 2.1. Language and its Genres.....                              | 17 |
| 2.2. Poetic Discourse Peculiarities and Forms.....             | 19 |

|                                     |       |
|-------------------------------------|-------|
| 2.3. Defining                       | Style |
| .....                               | 21    |
| 2.3.1 Some Popular Views on         |       |
| Style.....                          | 23    |
| 2.3.1.1 Style as a Deviation from a |       |
| Norm.....                           | 23    |
| 2.3.1.2. Style as the               |       |
| Individual.....                     | 23    |
| 2.3.1.3. Style as                   |       |
| Choice.....                         | 24    |
| 2.3.1.4. Style as a Product of      |       |
| Context.....                        | 24    |
| 2.3.1.6.5 Style as Good             |       |
| Writing.....                        | 25    |
| 2.4 Theoretical                     |       |
| Orientation.....                    | 27    |

2.4.1 Halliday's Systemic Functional Grammar: A Brief Historical Overview..27

2.4.2 Meta Functions of Language.....32

2.5. Review of Some Earlier Studies.....34

3. CHAPTER THREE

PHONO-GRAPHOLOGICAL FEATURES

3.1 Analysis of Phonological Features.....36

3.1.1 Sound Repetition.....36

3.1.2 Affective Mood in the Sound Repetition.....39

3.1.3

Rhythm.....

.....39

3.2. Graphological

Features.....44

3.2.1 Unusual

Indentation.....45

3.2.2

Asterisks.....

...46

3.2.3.

Capitalization.....47

3.2.4 Text

Layout.....48

3.2.5 Punctuation.....

.....49

4. CHAPTER FOUR

LEXICO-SEMANTIC AND GRAMMATICAL FEATURES

|               |                  |               |
|---------------|------------------|---------------|
| 4.0           | Lexical-semantic | features      |
| .....         |                  | 50            |
| 4.1           | Lexical          | Sense         |
| Relation..... |                  | 50            |
| 4.1.1         | Collocation..... |               |
| ....          |                  | 50            |
| 4.1.2         | Near             |               |
| Synonyms..... |                  | 52            |
| 4.1.3         | Antonyms.....    |               |
| .....         |                  | 54            |
| 4.1.4         | Semantic         | contradiction |
| .....         |                  | 55            |
| 4.1.5         | Coinages.....    |               |
| ...           |                  | 58            |

|         |                         |              |
|---------|-------------------------|--------------|
| 4.2     | Forms of Meaning in the |              |
|         | poems.....              | 59           |
| 4.2.1   | Denotative              |              |
|         | Meaning.....            | 59           |
| 4.2.2   | Connotative             |              |
|         | Meaning.....            | 60           |
| 4.2.3.  | Affective               |              |
|         | Meaning.....            | 62           |
| 4.2.4   | Cultural                |              |
|         | Meaning.....            | 64           |
| 4.2.5   | Figurative              |              |
|         | Meaning.....            | 67           |
| 4.2.5.1 |                         | Metaphorical |
|         | Meaning.....            | 68           |
| 4.2.5.2 |                         | Symbolic     |
|         | Meaning.....            | 68           |
| 4.2.5.3 |                         | Play on      |
|         | Words.....              | 70           |

|                 |                     |    |             |
|-----------------|---------------------|----|-------------|
| 4.3.            |                     |    | Lexical     |
| Repetition..... |                     |    | 71          |
| 4.4.            | Analysis            | of | grammatical |
| features.....   |                     |    | 72          |
| 4.4.1           | Group               |    |             |
| Structure.....  |                     |    | 72          |
| 4.4.1.1         | Nominal             |    | Group       |
| Structure.....  |                     |    | 72          |
| 4.4.1.2         | The Verbal          |    | Group       |
| Structure.....  |                     |    | 75          |
| 4.4.1.3         | The Adverbial Group |    |             |
| Structure.....  |                     |    | 77          |
| 4.5             | The Clause          |    |             |
| Structure.....  |                     |    | 79          |
| 4.6             |                     |    | Mood        |
| Choices.....    |                     |    | 83          |

5. CHAPTER FIVE

SUMMARY, FINDINGS AND CONCLUSION

5.1. Summary ..... of findings.....86

5.2. Conclusion.....
....88

REFERENCES.....
.....90

APPENDICES.....
.....95

OBAFEMI AWOLOWO UNIVERSITY

ABSTRACT

The study identified and described the lexico-semantic features of the poems in Adeoti's Naked Soles. It described the prominent phono-syntactic features of the poem and related the features to the content and context of the poems. This was with a view to describing the linguistic style in the poems.

The study employed both primary and secondary sources of data collection. Primary sources included 25 poems, (five from each section) which were purposively selected from Gbemisola Adeoti's Naked Soles. The poems were read and the lexico-semantic and phono-syntactic elements were identified. Secondary sources included books, journal articles and the Internet. Data were analysed using Halliday's Systemic Functional Grammar.

The results showed that at the lexico-semantic level such lexemes as "vision" / "fiction", "peace"/ "chaos", "denied" /"affirmed", were used to project the themes of deceit, and political corruption. Also lexical contradictions like: "blooming thorns", "muffled shrill", "glass chips" and "puzzling smiles" asserted the opposite of what they meant which revealed falsehood in the administration of Nigeria's political leaders. Many of the poems were cultural, for they contained lexical borrowings whose meanings were rooted in the Yoruba culture. Such lexical borrowings were: “gelede”, “,lroko”, “ogunpa”, “laalu”, “ogun lakaaye”, “olu igbo”, “olumo” and “owuye”. These lexical items served in contextualizing the poems and in generalizing cognitive responses in the reader. At the phono-syntactic level sound repetition enhanced the lyricism of the poems and helped to emphasise the themes. The dominance of unstressed syllables and irregular rhythmic pattern which ran through the poems enabled the poet to express his anger at government deceit and misrule. The sentence structure revealed that there were ample uses of nominal group structures like: “the market of vengeance/unripe hour of harvest” foregrounded in the poems. The use of adjectives and the definite article “the” to modify the noun headwords and their qualifiers call for particular attention. These adjectives and the definite article, to a large extent intensified the meanings of the noun headwords and through this; the poet was able to declare his anger against misrule, political slavery and injustice. The poet relied more on declarative sentences than interrogative sentences for enhancing the validity of his claims. This was so because he found the declarative sentences more suitable for the expression of his feelings on the issue at hand. Interrogative sentences like: ‘who would sneak and meander/like serpent behind this palace.../to steal the royal trumpet...?’ were used by the poet to probe the rationale for our political leaders’ actions thereby exposing the evil machinations behind them for the public to see and judge.

The study concluded that the linguistic style in Gbemisola Adeoti's poems engaged lexico-semantic resources and styles that captured his mood on the state of the nation.

OBAFEMI AWOLOWO UNIVERSITY

CHAPTER ONE

BACKGROUND TO THE STUDY

1.1 Introduction

Simply put, style is the manner of expressing one's thoughts. Just as there are various ways of doing things, there are stylistic variations in language use. Style is also distinctive in the sense that the language used in some way is significant for the thematic design of any genre. This distinctive aspect of style is predicated upon the fact that from a variety of items of language, the writer chooses and arranges them, depending on the genre, form, theme, author's general disposition, etc. A style can be good or bad, plain or unmarked. A style is said to be unmarked when the writing is of zero degree – “degree zero” being a term first used by Barthes (1967) to denote “absence of style” in the classical French writing by Camus. The appropriateness of the term has come under attack by scholars (notably Wales: 484) since no writing can exhibit “zero style” or “neutral style” or “transparent style”. In fact, the very “absence” of a marked style can itself be seen to be syntactically significant.

On style, Holman (1980) says it is the arrangement of words in a manner which at once best expresses the individuality of the author and the idea and the intent in the author's mind. The best style, for any given purpose, is that which most clearly approximates a perfect adaptation of one's language to one's ideas. Style is a combination of two elements: the idea to be expressed and the individuality of the author. Verdonk opines that „stylistics, the linguistic/scientific study of style can be defined as the analysis of distinctive expression in language and the description of its purpose and effect. How such analysis and description should be conducted, and how the relationship between them is to be established are matters on which different scholars of stylistics, or stylisticians, disagree....“ He further recognizes that style does not arise out of a vacuum but that its production, purpose, and effect are deeply embedded in the particular context in which both the writer and the reader... play their distinctive roles... we should distinguish between two types of context: linguistic and non-linguistic context.

Linguistic context refers to the surrounding features of language inside a text, like the typography, sounds, words, phrases, and sentences, which are relevant to the interpretation of other such linguistic elements. The non-linguistic context is a much more complex notion since it may include any number of text-external features influencing the language and style of a text. These we here refer to as linguo-literary features. Stylistics is the scientific study of style. Analysis in stylistics therefore involves a range of general language qualities, which include diction, sentence patterns, structure and variety, paragraph structure, imagery, repetition, emphasis, arrangement of ideas and other cohesive devices.

Stylistics, Literary Criticism and Practical Criticism have certain things in common. Stylistics studies describe the formal features of the text, that is, the levels of expression vis-à-vis the content, thus bringing out their functional significance for the interpretation of the work. The stylistician may rely on his intuition and interpretative skills just as the literary critic, but the former tries to keep at bay, vague and impressionistic judgment. To achieve this, stylistics draws on relevant and influential models of linguistics – the scientific study of language. Thus, as K. Wales observes, in later 1960s, Generative Grammar was influential; in the 1970s and 1980s, it was Discourse Analysis and Pragmatics. In the 1980s, there was a shift from the text to the reader and his responses to the text – with the birth of Affective Stylistics and Reception Theory.

1.2 Culture and Language

There is a symbiotic relationship between language, culture and literature as each reinforces, projects and distils the other (Adedimeji, 2005). Language is an integral part of culture, and is a means of propagating and transmitting culture. Culture supplies the experience which finds expression in language. The need for the projection of African culture has thus informed the development of modern African literature which serves to enlighten, educate and showcase the African world-view, practices and problems.

Culture is a dynamic phenomenon encompassing the totality of attitudes, behaviours, beliefs and world-views. It is an integral part of every human society and all social groups are characterized by it, in other words, it is the “complex pattern of behaviour and material achievement which are produced, learned and shared by members of a community” (Ameh, 2002). Basic to the meaning of culture is a sense of refinement that being “cultured” suggests. Every human community has its distinctive cultural patterns through which the totality of what, how, where and when of being in a context is known.

1.3 Statement of the Research Problem

Existing works on Gbemisola Adeoti's Naked Soles are newspaper essays and critical commentaries which paid little attention to the linguistic features of the poems. Majekodunmi (2008) did a lexico-semantic analysis of Adeoti's poems, Balogun (2007) provided a newspaper commentary, Olofinlua (2011) made a critical commentary. Little attention was paid to the lexico-semantic and phonosyntactic features of Adeoti's poems. The lexico-semantic and phono-syntactic features employed by the poet will aid the understanding of his poetic style. The present study sets out to fill this gap.

For more information, please contact ir-help@oauife.edu.ng

OBAFEMI AWOLOWO UNIVERSITY